

About STTP The Short term training program would address the significance and impact of NBA accreditation process. Accreditation is a process of quality assurance and improvement, whereby a program in an AICTE approved is critically appraised and verified in terms of norms and standards prescribed by the regulator time to time

The purpose of NBA Accreditation is to promote and recognize excellence in technical educational institutions. The process supports and advice institutions for maintenance and enhancement of quality provision. As a consequence there is a boost in confidence of various stakeholders including students and assurance of good standing of the institution among Government, Industries and other bodies.

One significant impact is increase in student's enrolment both in terms of quantity and quality. The programs of TIER-I institutions are recognized by the signatory of Washington Accord.
